

AXIUM INFRASTRUCTURE ACQUIRES REGULATED ELECTRIC TRANSMISSION PROVIDER IN TEXAS

New York, NY (January 7, 2020) – Axiom Infrastructure is pleased to announce the execution of definitive agreements for the acquisition of a 100% equity interest in WETT Holdings LLC, owner of a 100% equity interest in Wind Energy Transmission Texas, LLC (WETT or the Company). The transaction remains subject to regulatory approval.

WETT is a regulated electric transmission provider in West Texas that owns and operates 500 circuit miles of transmission lines and six switching stations across eleven West Texas counties. All of WETT’s transmission facilities are located within the Electric Reliability Council of Texas interconnection. The Company is rate-regulated by the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

WETT’s experienced management and operations team will stay in place following closing of the transaction, continuing to provide safe, reliable operation of the facilities along with close engagement with local communities and all stakeholders.

“Axiom is proud to be acquiring WETT and is committed to the long-term safe, reliable operation and continued development of this important West Texas electric transmission system,” said Thierry Vandal, President of Axiom Infrastructure US Inc. “WETT’s West Texas facilities are part of an important state-wide program to grow and deliver clean, renewable power throughout Texas”, added Mr. Vandal.

Barclays acted as financial advisor on this transaction while Winston & Strawn provided legal counsel.
